

IN-DEPTH.
INVESTIGATIVE.

Earth Day: Rising number of wildlife threatened by climate change

By Claire Ricke (<http://kxan.com/author/kxanclairericke/>)

Published: April 22, 2016, 9:05 am | Updated: April 22, 2016, 5:30 pm

AUSTIN (KXAN) — Earth Day brings thoughts of recycling and saving energy. But environmentalists also want you to think about what you can do to save the rising number of wildlife threatened by climate change.

The Austin branch of the Global Wildlife Conservation works to protect endangered animals across the globe. The Austinites working to conserve the world's wildlife will announce their new initiative, which hopes to protect rhinos from poachers.

Conservation leaders will gather at the Austin Music Hall for an Earth Day Gala.

The President of the Global Wildlife Conservation, Don Church, joined us in the KXAN studio to preview the event.

KXAN's David Yeomans spoke to U.S. Secretary of Energy Ernest Moniz, Thursday. Watch the full conversation here:

Rising number of poached rhinos

Editor's picks

Many look for answers ahead of Vietnam War Summit

Mansfield Dam floodgates open for first time in 9 years

A new alternative to statin side effects

Early voting for Proposition 1, Manor ISD bond starts Monday

KXAN.com (<http://kxan.com/>)

© 2000-2016 LIN Television of Texas, LP, a Media General company. All rights reserved.

Powered by WordPress.com VIP (<https://vip.wordpress.com/>)

☺